

Fall 2008 Class

Death and Dying

SDS 6938

Time: Thursdays, Periods 6-8 (12:50-3:50)

Instructor: Dr. Michael Murphy
Clinical Associate Professor
U.F. Counseling Center

In this class we will explore the topic of death and dying from a variety of perspectives, including the cross-cultural and transpersonal (psychological/spiritual) perspectives. Class members will be encouraged to explore their own experiences with, and beliefs about, death and dying, while also exploring new and alternative beliefs about the topic. Emphasis will be given to developing a more hopeful, optimistic view of death and dying.

Class is limited to 10 people. It is open to both graduate and upper level undergraduate students. To sign up for the class please call the Counselor Education Program (392-0731).

For more information about the class please call Michael Murphy at 392-1575 or at murphy@counsel.ufl.edu.

This class is sponsored by the UF Center for Spirituality and Health (www.spiritualityandhealth.ufl.edu).
